BC PENSION CORPORATION RECOGNIZED AS A WORLD-CLASS ORGANIZATION IN EXCELLENCE

Victoria, BC – BC Pension Corporation has received the Order of Excellence® from Excellence Canada’s Awards for Excellence® program.

“We are proud to receive the prestigious Order of Excellence® certification in the Organizational Excellence Standard,” said Laura Nashman, CEO of BC Pension Corporation. “This accomplishment reflects our organizational mindset of continuous improvement and pursuit of excellence. I am grateful for the hard work and dedication of our staff, for what we do to provide peace of mind to those we serve and for the success we have achieved together.”

Excellence Canada is a not-for-profit organization that specializes in the training, implementation and certification of organizational excellence in Canada.

BC Pension Corporation has sustained the Organizational Excellence Standard (OES) at the platinum level for at least two consecutive years, qualifying the corporation for the Order of Excellence®. This award reflects continued excellence in various key areas, including leadership, planning, customers, people, processes and partners. These are Excellence Canada’s six key drivers for positive change and growth within organizations.

“Excellence Canada congratulates BC Pension Corporation for achieving organizational excellence,” said Catherine Neville, Excellence Canada Team Lead Assessor. “Their journey toward excellence began years ago, and we’re excited to see them now serve as an exemplary model for organizations throughout Canada and beyond. We look forward to celebrating their continued success.”

Sustaining the OES required a comprehensive evaluation of the organization. In meeting the rigorous Canada Awards for Excellence requirements, BC Pension Corporation showed commitment to upholding best practices benchmarked against world-class organizations.
